

040181

The image displays three hexagonal panels, each containing a complex, symmetrical geometric pattern. The patterns are highly detailed, featuring intricate line work and star-like shapes. The top and bottom panels show more defined, sharp patterns, while the middle panel appears slightly more faded or less defined. The patterns are arranged vertically, one above the other, and are separated by thin white lines. The overall style is reminiscent of a technical or scientific illustration, possibly related to crystallography or geometry.
